Welcome to Game Fair 2017!

Chuck and Loral I Delaney

The owners and founders of Game Fair, Chuck and Loral I Delaney live on the grounds throughout the year overseeing their dog boarding and training facility at Armstrong Ranch Kennels. Chuck and Loral I have each been part of the outdoor sportshow industry for seven decades as performers and coordinators. They created America's original Game Fair in 1982, modeled after similar fairs in Britain. Loral I grew up on the grounds of Game Fair as the daughter of Fred Armstrong, founder of the Armstrong Ranch Kennels in 1926. For the past 36 years, Chuck has overseen all the operations of Game Fair. Both Chuck and Loral I enjoy hosting Game Fair too much to stop anytime soon and are thrilled to have you as guests again in 2017.

Game Fair 2017 features your favorite activities from past years plus new exhibits and dog events, and renovated grounds. Attend a seminar! Below you'll see seasoned experts who've been entertaining crowds for years, plus some exciting newcomers. Thanks for being here!

Kevin Lovegreen

Author of the one-of-a-kind book series, "Lucky Luke's Hunting Adventures," Kevin Lovegreen uses his unique outdoor theme to inspire, teach, and entertain children. His seminar demonstrates how various hunting calls sound, and he invites you to participate in the "World Famous" Animal Sound Challenge. Test your knowledge and see if you can name the animal and whether it's a male or female.

Nora Ross

A 34-time Amateur Trapshooting Association All-American, Nora Ross in 1999 became the youngest person ever inducted into the Amateur Trapshooting Association Hall of Fame. One of her most impressive accomplishments occurred in 1990 when she became the first woman to break 100-straight doubles at the Grand American Trap Shoot where she scored 120x120 in a shoot off to capture the championship. She is an expert trapshooting instructor who is in high-demand across the country. Ross's twice daily seminars will focus on sharpening trap-shooting skills.

Dennis Anderson

Best known as the outdoor columnist of the Minneapolis Star Tribune, Dennis Anderson has been involved with retrieving dogs most of his life. For the past three decades, Anderson and his wife, Janice, has owned and operated the breeding kennel British-Labradors.com in the St. Croix Valley. They travel frequently to England, Scotland, and Ireland each year and also host some of Great Britain's top retriever experts. Learn about the differences between British and American breeds as well as the varying training methods.

Cartrell Cooper

Owner of Big D's Dog Training, Cartrell Cooper is a highly accomplished dog trainer who believes that every dog has the potential to be well behaved. His seminars focus on helping dog owners make that happen by focusing more on the canine thinking process versus the correction process. With more than 40 years of training experience, Cooper has a Ph.D. in animal behavior and is internationally recognized as a trainer, behaviorist, and instructor.

Jeff Fredrick

One of the best turkey callers in the country, Jeff Fredrick has turned his hobby of making turkey calls into a successful business. Hailing from La Crosse, Wis., Fredrick has been the Wisconsin turkey-calling champion a dozen times. His seminar on turkey calling and hunting will draw on his 30 years of experience pursuing and calling turkeys.

Steve McComas

Owner of St. Paul based Blue Water Science, Steve McComas is better known to many as "The Lake Detective." Readers of Outdoor News enjoy reading his regular tales of sleuthing as he uses his skills as an aquatic ecologist and civil engineer to solve mysteries for lake associations, property owners, and city governments. Hear some of his tales in his daily seminars and join his crusade to battle aquatic invasive species.

Todd Stelzer

Owner and operator of Whisky River Gun-dogs in west-central Wisconsin, Todd Stelzer specializes in training flushing dogs for upland hunting, hunt tests and AKC field trials. With 20 years of training experience, Stelzer believes each dog's training is unique, and he uses positive reinforcement to create a happy dog that loves to train and hunt. His daily seminars will focus on flushing dogs from start to finish.

Randy Bartz

Inventor of the concept of goose flagging using the original T-Flag in the late 1980s, Randy Bartz is better known by his nickname "The Flagman." From his home base in Rochester, Minn., Bartz has perfected the art of flagging geese across North America. Bartz has been a stalwart of Waterfowler's Hill at Game Fair since the event's first year. He continues to design and perfect a superior line of goose flags and will share what he's learned and continues to develop in his daily seminars.

Josh DeWitt

Friends introduced Josh DeWitt to waterfowling during his college years, and that's where he first witnessed a well-trained Labrador retriever birds in an Illinois River slough. Today he owns southeast Missouri-based Brookstone Kennels, which focuses on champion Labs of U.K. genetics. Over the past 15 years, DeWitt has developed an education and natural training style that uses positive reinforcement to build on the dogs' genetically innate abilities and talents. His seminars will focus on the importance of getting obedience right in young dogs.

The Gould Brothers

Aaron and Steve Gould put on a jaw-dropping twice-daily shotgun trickshooting performance that fills the bleachers and has become a fan favorite. Their shooting feats will amaze you plus you'll laugh hearing their stories of competing against one another with brotherly love. Minnesotans to the core, Aaron and Steve Gould have turned their dreams of trickshooting into reality.

Josh Miller

Owner and lead trainer at River Stone Kennels in western Wisconsin, Josh Miller is a fresh face on the dog-training scene with a wealth of experience. With multiple NASHDA Shed Dog World Championship titles to his name, Miller has accomplished a lot in a decade of training experience. Miller combines a variety of techniques to meet a variety of training scenarios. His daily seminars focus on introducing e-Collars to your dog in a way that is most effective and conducive to a happy, well-behaved dog.

Jon Thompson

Owner of Riverside Sporting Gear in east-central Minnesota, Jon Thompson is an expert at firearms training and certification. He is an active International Defensive Pistol Association action shooter with expert status in multiple handgun classifications and holds a rare Advanced Pistol Certification. His daily seminars, co-hosted by Brian Cooper of Eagle Mountain Trading, will focus on handgun fit and accuracy along with basic to advanced handgun shooting skills.

Kurt Baumgartner

With more than 30 years of bowhunting experience and a lifelong career in the outdoors industry, Kurt Baumgartner is a wealth of knowledge for seasoned and beginning archers alike. His daily bowhunting seminars will focus on deer vision and ways that hunters can avoid being detected during the hunt. Baumgartner leads Game Fair's "Archery World" and directs the Game Fair $1,000 100-Yard Archery Challenge, now in its sixth year.

Tom Dokken

Inventor of Dokken's Deadfowl Trainer and owner of Dokken's Oak Ridge Kennels, one of the largest gun dog training kennels in the United States, Tom Dokken has been part of Game Fair since the beginning. Author of the book "Retriever Training," Dokken has made seminar appearances across North and South America and is featured on numerous outdoor television programs. Dokken returns to Game Fair every year to give daily seminars on developing a well-behaved hunting dog.

Jordan Keil

A Minnesota State Champion Goose caller, Jordan Keil is also a waterfowling guide from western Minnesota. He pursues waterfowl on a daily basis for at least eight months of the year, guiding others to magnificent hunting experiences. His seminar focuses on coaxing waterfowl reactions to your calling via natural sequences that attract ducks and geese.

Ethan and Kat Pippitt

The proud owners of Standing Stone Kennels in Kansas, Ethan and Kat Pippitt, will share their knowledge and experiences about how to work with your dog so it is both a solid hunter and a well behaved family companion. Ethan and Kat love working with all breeds of dogs including pointers, flushers, and retrievers. Both of them believe in positively developing dogs so they can reach their full potential.

Scott Threinen

Owner of Molt Gear, Inc., and a three-time World Live Goose Calling Champion, Scott Threinen has been a professional waterfowling guide for the past two decades in Rochester, Minn. Threinen's approach to goose hunting and master calling techniques are the focus of his seminars. He is the creator of the Bad Grammar Calling instructional series and also the Goose Society Instructional hunting series.

Barnie Calef

A three-time World Duck Calling Champion, Barnie Calef is a nationally known waterfowl celebrity. Only six other men have won three World Titles since 1935 putting Calef into an elite fraternity of callers. The host of Drakes Migration Nation TV, Calef is a master waterfowler as well. His seminar draws on those skills and talents to demonstrate how to be a better duck caller and a better waterfowler.

Julie Doubek-Mills

A lifelong dog trainer who has been to every Game Fair with her family's business at Gold Meadows Hunting Preserve, Julie Doubek-Mills loves helping people learn how to own a great dog. Her seminar draws on three decades of dog training and field trial experience with a focus on making training fun for the dog and the owner.

Bill Kuhlmann

Born and raised in Minnesota, Bill Kuhlmann is a retired dentist who always felt the draw of the Rocky Mountains. With three decades of elk hunting experience, Kuhlmann has lived in Wyoming for more than a decade. He returns to Minnesota every summer to give elk hunting seminars at Game Fair and share his archery hunting expertise.

Tom Poorker

Founder of Focus Outdoors TV and owner of Midwest Gundog Kennels in central Minnesota, Tom Poorker has trained dogs to titles in AKC hunt tests and field trials, NAS-TRA, NAVHDA and several hunting titles. His seminar focuses on all the aspects of gun dog training, and he has been a very popular speaker at Game Fair for the past 20 years. Whether he's on television tackling wingshooting, or giving a dog training seminar, Poorker is always entertaining, informative, and educational.

Dick and Dawn Wessels

Dog Agility is a game of blistering speed, the sharpest of obedience skills, and it enhances the physical fitness of both the dog and human team members. It's a sport for all dogs and handlers, and Dick and Dawn Wessels have become two of the top agility experts in the country. Their twice-daily seminars are high energy featuring their famous agility dogs along with a host of fellow agility trainers running through a dynamic agility course at the center of the Game Fair grounds.

Steve Carney

A professional fishing guide for 35 years, Steve Carney is a master outdoorsman well known for his weekly column in the Outdoor News. He has made multiple appearances on WCCO-TV and hosted WCCO radio's Sunday outdoor segments for the past 30 years. Carney brings all those experiences together to provide an entertaining, enlightening seminar on becoming a more successful angler.

Al Freiberg

Founder and former owner/trainer of Elk River Kennels, Al Freiberg trained an average of 40 dogs per month for 15 years. His dogs have been awarded nearly every title available in North America, and he has a reputation for turning dogs labeled "untrainable and problematic" into AKC champions. Freiberg's seminars focus on simple training tips for all breeds beginning with basic obedience on up to master hunter.

Jeremy Lawson

Owner and operator of Any Good Reason Kennels in southeast Minnesota, Jeremy Lawson adheres to the strictest of breeding standards to produce only the best pointing dogs. Besides breeding top-of-the-line English setters and German short-haired pointers, Lawson operates a boarding facility and trains dogs with his wife, Amy, for obedience, agility, therapy, tracking, sledding, carting, and fieldwork. His seminar with Tom Poorker focuses on all the aspects of gun dog training.

Cherie Ross

An international expert on essential oils and their health benefits for humans and animals, Cherie Ross has a lifetime of experience with dogs and the outdoors. She has worked personally and professionally with Essential Oils since 1975, currently with patients in hospitals and clinics to teach the benefits of using the oils for physical and mental health. Ross encourages people to bring their most challenging situations to her seminar to receive options to achieve the results you're demanding.

Joanna Yund

Specializing in training stock dogs for herding, Joanna Yund works with a wide variety of dog breeds at her Training Camp, Inc. in east-central Minnesota. An obedience trainer since 1971, Yund has too many awards and certifications to list on just one page. Whether your goal is to use your dog for his specific breeding, train for trial competition, or obtain a working partner, herding instruction teaches the handler and dog partnership to have calm, confident control. Her daily herding demonstrations prove that practice makes perfect.
